Leah Brown as Keynote Speaker at The Institute of Minority Economic Development 2011 Executive Networking Conference

Pinehurst, N.C. – Leah Brown, President and CEO of A10 Clinical Solutions Inc., has received an invitation to speak at The NC Institute of Minority Economic Development 2011 Executive Networking Conference (ENC) during the Awards Dinner in Pinehurst, North Carolina on Friday, March 25, 2011 at 7:00pm. This event, lasting from Thursday, March 24th to Saturday, March 26th, provides education and professional development, networking opportunities and connections between Minority Business Enterprises (MBEs) and Corporate Representatives.

As guest speaker, Brown presents implementable information to attendees for minority business growth and enhancement. Brown takes this opportunity to demonstrate her commitment to and support of minority and women business owners, supplier diversity and development professionals. The theme for this year's conference is "A New Economic Season: Expanding Opportunities," which emphasizes a focus on economic changes and current trends in minority business as well as forging new business connections.

This annual conference includes many prominent speakers including: Brett Carter, President of Duke Energy North Carolina; Lloyd Yates, President and CEO for Progress Energy Carolinas; Richard Annicetti, Former President and CEO of Food Lion; Michael K. Robinson, Program Director, Global Supplier Diversity for IBM's Integrated Supply Chain; Carla Harris, Managing Director and head of the Emerging Manager Platform at Morgan Stanley Investment Management; and Joset B. Wright, President of the National Minority Supplier Development Council.

"The 2011 ENC is leading the way to direct networking opportunities and professional growth," says Brown. "I am honored to have received this invitation on behalf of NC Institute of Minority Economic Development and hope that my speaking contribution and industry experience will aid in the development of other notable business leaders."
